

The diagram illustrates the life cycle of a fly (mouche) through four stages, each shown in a petri dish. The stages are arranged in a clockwise cycle, indicated by red arrows. The background is split into light blue and light orange sections. Various laboratory tools like a pipette, tweezers, and a scalpel are also depicted. Dashed rectangular boxes are scattered around the dishes, likely for labeling.

Le cycle
de la mouche